

Neuroscience in France

POSTDOC OPPORTUNITIES

5 reasons to do your Postdoc in Neuroscience in France

1. Top Research Institutions - Cutting-edge neuroscience centers with strong international collaboration opportunities.
2. High Quality of Life - Affordable living, strong social protections, and a healthy work-life balance.
3. European Research Hub - Central access to cross-border collaborations, major conferences, and EU research networks.
4. Funding Opportunities - Competitive fellowships (France 2030, ANR, Marie Skłodowska-Curie).
5. Interdisciplinary Culture - Diverse neuroscience research combining biology, AI, medicine, and engineering in collaborative clusters.

Find a postdoc in neuroscience in France

- Reach out to labs in your field : France has leading research groups across the full spectrum of neuroscience. Identify labs aligned with your interests and contact them directly.
- Explore job offers and funding opportunities : Dedicated websites list open postdoc positions and available funding for international and domestic candidates.

Research in France

4th

country in the world
by the number of Nobel Prizes

110

Neuroscience Research centers

710

Neuroscience Research teams

Health insurance

included in the annual salary for a full-time post-doctoral position

A tradition of academic excellence in higher education and scientific research.

More information here

Neuroscience in France

MAJOR NEUROSCIENCE CENTERS IN FRANCE

From Paris to Marseille, Bordeaux to Strasbourg, Lyon to Lille, France's neuroscience centers span the entire country, each with its own expertise, culture, and rhythm of life. Whether you're drawn to cutting-edge imaging, computational neuroscience, or systems neuroscience, there's a lab here that fits your science and your life.

A lifetime experience

Working in France presents a valuable opportunity : a chance to benefit from a prestigious scientific environment, whilst acquiring a new language and exploring diverse cultures and territories.